Candlefoot was about to declare his love for Palasha but the words left him. This was Peking. Candlefoot has lost his voice.

She enjoys these sort of conversations, has developed a friendship with Burly, the Bugbear. He's a scholar. His brother Murley is missing. But he did not fit in anyhow. Burley had spoken to owners to search for him but they convinced him to stay since searching with no leads would be unwise.

Chris had his fortune read by an elderly lady, punch and then tells for others. Alex had his fortune read. When she finishes, she disappears.

At the end of the show they encourage everyone to return for the crowning of the witchlight monarch.

Burly comes over to speak to us. As Burly escorted us, Alex asked him about the missing employees including his brother as we walked back.

He takes off his jack o lantern helm. He explains that many have gone missing but bosses haven't looked into it. They're good guys so whoever has them worried must be extraordinary skeletons. While he does not condone theft, but if you got one of the items it would hold them to it.

Vane controls who is monarch, watch is attached to Mr Witch by a chain whoever tries to lift it would need to deal with it.

Dirlagon, Palasha, candlefoot could help stay away from Thaco he's not trustworthy.

Chris talked to witch + Light while we talked to Burly. We then arrived to join back up.

We were asked what we were doing at the carnival. Chris said "my mission" the rest gave answers.

Light expressed that he was sorry that we lost something here.
