Q3. The last question is "Where do we find the Alicorn horn that can free Zylina?"

Q1. How to release Sir Talarin?

Q2. How to free Zylina / Prismeer and what happened to her?

Q3. ^(what really is) Where do we find the Alicorn horn

A1. The Cey's Key is in Goblin hands, in Teleny Well ^{where} she stands.

A2. With Prismeer split along its lines, I cannot read its distant signs.

A3. On top of a plant touching the sky in familiar hands the horn resides. The realm disturbed must be made right, a unicorn's horn will ^{and you} and you. Mists are physical manifestation of the split between the sisters and can be resolved. . .

Chris Notes:

- Sisters split the realm
- Moose noodle cannot see through mists
- Moose noodle can see / did see alicorn horn
- Something else needs to happen to free Zylina Kill hags?
~~kill~~ Disperse mists?

Dan

Since he knows about alicorn horn, thus it is not sufficient if he says he cannot see the signs to free her

Q4 (rephrased) How do we defeat Baulorna? Running circles may sound fun, but leaves hags sneezing when they're done w hymn as we left.

We left towards Telleny hill. We found huge footprints filled with water.

Chris had this memory about Telleny hill being mobile, those are the hill's footprints.
Telleny hill was large easy enough to follow.

We are greeted with the scent of sweet fruit
they lightly sway as the hill walks.

hear a voice greet us "Hello friends." Don't see anyone.

"Might I ask how long we intend to stay here?"

We realize that the trees were talking to us.
The trees are speaking for the hill.

The trees tell us that Jingle Jangle the goblin can help, she collects keys.

As we walk, the voice goes from tree to tree.

Jingle Jangle has not left her den for the better part of three days. The Harengon have been coming into her home and absconding with her keys.

The cave has an entryway carved out like a keyhole. Scent of iron in air.
Candle sputtering and keys everywhere.

"I'm going to start fucking people up with a flail of eldritch padlocks."

Jingle Jangle is scared of locks, she was not treated nicely and was left in a cage.

^{Paulorna}
"She" tried to help, they had powers and could grant wishes, so she helped Jingle Jangle be less afraid of locks by having keys.

She had the key until Harengon stole the key.
If you're looking to stay, to protect an ambush
Harengon, cook dinner.

She asks people to help truffle hunting

Along the way to hunt truffles, the trees asked if we could have her let Will know before she digs again

We suggested that the hill could find Compost's to start speaking for the hill indoors

Jingle Jangle explained she hadn't dug, it turns out that it may have been there soon.

Chris gave everchanging key trinket in exchange for the knowledge about the flail

She set up several extra blankob.

In the night rabbit ears came up through hole, that changed into a spider.

Cast spike growth, it exploded from the spikes turned into a burst of worms, spiders, etc.

Jingle Jangle did not wake from the noise.

We called it for the night there
